Breakdown:

Beginner—Intermediate

The student will be able to practice emergency and urgent care requests and practice role playing emergency scenarios.

- Prepare a vocabulary list of emergency-related words, for example: police, hospital, fire station, help, fire, car crash, bicycle, moped, hurt, broken, etc.
 - Create 2 or 3 role play scenario prompts. Please note: some of these topics can be sensitive or upsetting for your student, so pay close attention to your student for any signs of discomfort and move on if necessary.
 - Calling for help while walking down the street, asking strangers to assist in an emergency
 - Mobile call for an ambulance for someone's broken ankle
 - Mobile call for police to assist in a car crash
1. Discuss different types of emergencies that may occur, using the new vocabulary in context to show it's meaning
 2. Introduce the vocabulary list and discuss meaning
 3. Work together with the student to prepare a list of important details and emergency names, numbers and locations:
 - Student's details: name, mobile number, address, nearest cross street, languages student speaks
 - Emergency number (ex: 911), hospital name, address, phone number, police station address, phone number, fire station address, phone number
 4. Talk through each of the role play scenarios
